chickens can be transmitted by birds. A grain of corn placed on the plate of corn will cause birds to eat it. However, if the grain is not mixed with the corn, the birds will not eat it. This is because chickens are able to distinguish between different types of grains. To prevent this, a mixture of corn and chicken feed should be used.